The Korean Electrochemical Society (KECS) and The Electrochemical Society of Japan (ECSJ) have build a strong relationship for decades centered on personal relationships and joint conferences in specific fields.

This session was planned as a first step toward bringing our two societies closer together. As neighboring countries, we believe that by joining forces, we can contribute more efficiently and effectively to the advancement of electrochemistry. With this conviction, the two Societies have agreed to start discussions on moving toward a closer, more structured collaboration. We hope to share this vision with all of you and to reaffirm our commitment to pursuing the spirit of “Science Beyond Borders.” We would be delighted to have you join us and take part in the discussion.
